

...With flying colours!

After only 10 days into the capacity of Chief Instructor, the Dutchess passed the annual RYA inspection for Greek Sails Poros Yachting Academy with flying colours!

Before the inspection of 2017, an enormous update of the school paperwork was done, ranging from manuals, reports, organisation, and training material. The tuition yachts were also improved upon. This year, we are very pleased to have yet again added some great updates to deliver high-quality RYA courses and other training weeks with Poros Yachting Academy for all our students.

As the new Chief Instructor for Greek Sails Poros Yachting Academy, the Dutchess succeeded in achieving, 2nd time in a row but this time officially, an inspection report with zero negative remarks and only a few friendly suggestions on improvements for upcoming RYA regulations!

This achievement was only made by hard work, lots of preparation, a great team and the motto that makes this all possible:

Sailing is not just a passion, it's a way of life!

A little treat for you and for me...

Skipper Swede managed to get his hands on the sewing machine of his (current) dreams, a SailRite Ultrafeed LSZ-1. So as pointed out in February's newsletter, santa did indeed show up early! And with that, a whole abundance of bags has been produced and more will come. Check our FB page and next newsletters for updates!

Some pictures of current events!

...And so it begins!

Season has started! What a great season we have ahead of us! Kicking off with several school boats and great training weeks, the early season weather is treating us to clear sunny skies and the regular sea-breeze, but also the instability of warm- and cold fronts, squalls, thunder and other exciting weather phenomenon which adds to the excitement, adventure and to the training! And let's not forget, the breathtakingly beautiful sunsets in the Aegean. Picture above is from Angistri, overlooking the Corinth canal. Can it get better than this?!

...And so it begins!

...and off we go! Out for some seriously exciting and rewarding teaching trips, awesome skippered charters and just having an absolute blast on the water!

Skipper Swede took this picture of the Dutchess on our second tuition yacht 'Thalatta' (The Sea in Greek) as we were on our way to Nea Ephidavros, delivering a grand total of 6 RYA Day Skipper courses in early April.
